INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION TO KEEP NATION ALIVE

Fair Distribution of Profits One of the Paramount Issues Now, Says Hoover,

66 THE paramount business of every American to-day is the business of finding a soitlon to the lesues of maximum profuction and fair division of profits,' said Herbert C. Hoover at the ban quet of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers last night at the Waldorf-Astoria. But this solution must be found by Americans in a practical American American philosophy of life. A defiuite American substitute is needed for these disintegrating theories of Europe

"It must be founded on our national nstincts and upon the normal development of our national institutions It must be founded too upon the funthis Nation-the farmer, the industrial worker, the professional man, the employer-are all absolutely interdependent upon each other in this better distribution of its results . . .
